

Introduce Latin into your comprehensive school

Latin is not just for private and selective schools. Introduce it in your school and offer a competitive edge to your students.

Brooke Weston added Latin to its curriculum in 2013 and it has proved so successful with our Sixth Formers and Gifted and Talented students that we are rolling it out for our younger students.

We are holding three information sessions on how to introduce Latin into your school. You do not need to be a specialist teacher to deliver the course and we will provide details on methods and resources.

Brooke Weston Teaching School was established in 2011 after being one of the first hundred schools in the country to be granted Teaching School status. We have forged partnerships with professionals across the East Midlands, ranging from primary through to higher education providers.

Why choose us?

Brooke Weston is rated as Outstanding by OFSTED and has a longstanding commitment to and experience of supporting the professional development of teachers and leaders.

Who would benefit from this course?

This will be suitable for any teacher who is looking at the feasibility of introducing Latin as a subject in their own school. The study of Latin enhances university applications for Sixth Formers, particularly when applying to Russell Group universities and Ofsted is always interested to see what you offer to your Gifted and Talented students and Latin is ideal as it is highly regarded as a subject that stretches the mind.

What will the session cover?:

- Useful books and materials
- Possible examination routes
- Funding opportunities
- Available training

Dates:

We are holding three sessions. Please let us know which you would like to attend.
